State Engineer Tells Aims of State
Gathering.

The foregoing, briefly summed up, are the chief aims and objects of the state highway commission in calling a state convention of chairmen and members of county road boards and chairmen of county commissions in the Commercial Club for May 8 and 9 next. State Engineer French in a letter to Secretary Henning of the Commercial Club explains at some length the purpose of the meeting which it is believed will inaugurate a new era of team work and statewide uniformity in the building of highways. The idea is to have all the county roads dovetail neatly into a practicable working unit system of roads with the greatest economy and greatest efficiency. The county is to be the unit in a statewide construction campaign on the principle that every little bit added to what you've got makes just a little bit more, and every mile of county road will be one additional mile of Mexican road.

The club secretary has received communications already from forty members of county road boards and commissions, stating that they will attend the meeting and asking for hotel reservations. It is believed the attendance will not fall short of the first estimate of 250 for the road board convention and the annual convention of the New Mexico Good Roads association called for the same date.

In short, the biggest noise ever made by the road boosters of the state will be doubtless heard on May 8 and 9. The meeting began with three candidates: R. L. Wootton, F. P. Kahlert and Alvaro Montoya. On the vote Wootton received 8, Montoya 13 and Kahlert 8. A. H. Hudspeth of White Oaks received four complimentary votes, although his name was not before the committee for endorsement. Because none of the candidates for the marshalship received a majority vote on the first ballot, as required by the Goodell resolution, no endorsement for this office was made by the committee.

The United States marshalship contest was decided after 2 o'clock. A resolution was presented by Judge W. W. McClellan that the endorsement of a candidate for postmaster be left to a primary. Judge McClellan then withdrew as a candidate for postmaster and A. Fleischer followed suit after making a lengthy speech defending his position. With but two candidates still in the running, J. D. Emmons and Roehl a vote was taken. Emmons received one vote, Roehl 18, and eight.
